Editorial

Time has beaten us on redesigning this issue, so you will have to wait patiently until the next. I would like to exhort our readers to contribute to the Interactive Multimedia debate as there are a number of conferences around Australia on the topic. No hard reasoned articles have yet been produced, especially ones with research data on elements of interactive multimedia.

I would like to acknowledge the work by Margaret Cameron in helping with the editing of this issue, without her assistance it would have been substantially delayed.

If you would like to contribute to our next issue please fax me and give a brief outline of your proposed article or even a disk which might be included!

Editorial Board: John Hedberg, Sue McNamara, James Steele

The Australian Journal of Educational Technology welcomes original contributions from members of the Australian Society for Educational Technology, NSPI and others. Short features (up to 1000 words) and articles (up to 5000 words) should be typed, on one side of the paper only, and single spaced. Articles, submitted in triplicate, should be accompanied by an abstract of up to 100 words (for publication) and a short note on the contributor, both on separate sheets. Material should be submitted on MS-SOS, Windows or Macintosh format disks. Articles appearing in the Journal are professionally reviewed, and editorial policy is the responsibility of the AJET editorial board. Authors' opinions should be regarded as their own unless AJET endorsed.
