Call for Paper

Celtic: A Journal of Culture, English Language Teaching, Literature, & Linguistics is a peer reviewed academic journal managed by the English Language Education Department, Faculty of Teacher Training and Education, University of Muhammadiyah Malang. It is published twice a year, in June and December. We welcome articles in the form of research reports or library research on English Language Teaching, Literature, Linguistics, and Culture. Generally, all manuscript received between December-May are allocated for June Edition, while those received between June-November are for December Edition. ISSN 2356-0401 (print), 2621-9158 (online); the article submission and publication are free of charge. CELTIC has been indexed in SINTA (Sinta 5), Google Scholar, BASE, Crossref, Garuda, Dimension, ROAD, and Harvard Library.

Check our Author Guide for details on how to submit.

Author Guidelines

I. Author Guide

Authors are required to submit their manuscripts electronically by using CELTIC online submission and review website. New authors are required to register first before they can send their manuscript at http://ejournal.umm.ac.id/index.php/celtic/user/register. Existing authors can upload their manuscript after logging in to the website. Any questions related to online submission can be emailed to celtic@umm.ac.id.

Submission of a manuscript implies that the paper is the author(s)' own work which has not been previously published, nor is it under consideration for publication elsewhere and that if accepted, it will not be published elsewhere either in English or in other languages. To verify originality, your article may be checked using the originality detection service Turnitin.

Authors are encouraged to carefully consider the list and order of authorship before submitting their manuscript. Addition, deletion or rearrangement of authorship should be made only before the manuscript is accepted—such a request will not be processed after the work is accepted for publication. The request should be made in written and emailed to celtic@umm.ac.id.

Authors are required to acknowledge the financial support received for conducting the research and to briefly describe the roles of the sponsors, if any, in the study. See 'Template' for the funding acknowledgment information. As a peer-reviewed academic journal, CELTIC requires its authors to strongly uphold academic ethics when conducting and reporting their research for publication.

For further information about our template click the 'Article Template' in the right side pane.

II. Manuscript Preparation Guidelines

General Format

The manuscript should be between 3000 – 5000 words, typed in MS Word .doc format, single spaced and single column, using 12 point Times New Roman font, on A4-size paper with the margin: 4 centimeters (top), and 3 centimeters (bottom, right, left), given bottom-center page number. A one-paragraph abstract (200 – 300 words) should be included.

The manuscript should be uploaded to CELTIC system and arranged in CELTIC standard format; Title, Authors, Address and Email, Abstract, Keywords, Introduction, Findings, Discussion, Conclusion, and References.

Manuscript Title

The title should accurately describe the content (Maximum 14 Words, Center Alignment, All Capital, Bold, Times New Roman 14, Single Space).

Authors

The manuscript has the main author and, if any, co-authors with the full name of the author and co-authors (no abbreviation, no title), includes affiliation of each author and email address(es) clearly. Denote the corresponding author clearly by giving star(*) right after the name.

Abstracts

The abstract should be informative and completely self-explanatory, provide a clear statement of the problem, the proposed approach or solution, and point out major findings and conclusions. The Abstract should be 200 to 300 words in length. Abbreviations should be avoided and no literature should be cited. Abstract is provided in English and Indonesian languages.

Keywords

The keywords should avoid general, plural terms and multiple concepts. Do not use words or terms in the title as keywords. These keywords will be used for indexing purposes. Keywords should be 3-5 words or phrases arranged in alphabetical order. Keywords are written right after Abstract and are provided in English and Indonesian languages.

Introduction

The introduction should provide a clear background, a clear statement of the problem, the relevant literature on the subject, proposed approach or solution, and clearly present the novelty of research or the latest innovation. It should be understandable to colleagues from a broad range of scientific disciplines.

Method

This section describes the way the research was conducted. This should include (1) research design; (2) population and samples; (3) data collection techniques and instrument development; and (4) data analysis techniques.

Findings

This section should present the results of research and at the same time give comprehensive discussion. The presentation can be made in sub-sections based on the research question(s).

Results can be presented using figures, graphs, tables, and other visual aids to help readers understand easily. The unit of measurement used should follow the prevailing international system. All figures and tables placed separately at the end of manuscript pages and should be active and editable by the editor. See our Template.

Discussion
The discussion section should present the highlights and significance of the findings. For that, deep interpretation about the results are expected. Ensure that all research questions are addressed and relate the findings to the existing literature. Profound exploration of theoretical significance related to findings and recommendation for further research and research implications are also expected in this section.

When combined, Findings and Discussion sections should cover about 40-50% of the paper with balanced portion of both.

Conclusion
The conclusion should be explained clearly. Suggestion placed after the conclusion contains recommendation based on the research done or inputs that can be used by potential beneficiaries or future research.

Acknowledgment (optional)
Acknowledgment of supporting parties (i.e. sponsors), if any, should be written here. The acknowledgment must be written briefly and clearly, avoid hyperbole acknowledgment.

References
The main references are international journals and proceeding. All references should be to the most pertinent and up-to-date sources. The references mentioned should be the ones used in the paper. Citation and referencing must be written based on APA style 6th Edition which is organized by using referencing tools. CELTIC recommends using the latest version of Mendeley (See Mendeley User Guidelines).

CONCLUSION

ACKNOWLEDGMENT
If any, indicate sources of funding or significant assistance received in carrying out the study and/or preparing the manuscript before the references.

REFERENCES
Use APA Style 6th Edition for in-text citations (Author, year) and the reference list. If there are "direct quotes, then provide the page number" (Author, 2010, p. 24). If you are citing more than one reference, put them in alphabetical order (Alpha, 2019; Beta, 2018). Do not use footnotes. Every in-text citation must correspond to an entry in the reference list and vice-versa. To ensure, CELTIC strongly recommends using the latest version of Mendeley Referencing Manager. Minimum 15 references are required with 80% taken from current (within 10 year) research papers.
