DORA BIBLARZ has been appointed associate university librarian for collection development at the Arizona State University Libraries, effective August 1. Biblarz has been head of collection and acquisition services at Arizona State since 1980.

She came to ASU from the University of New Mexico where she was acting assistant dean for library collections in 1979-1980 and head of acquisitions in 1978. She was acquisitions librarian and assistant head of the department at the University of California, Davis, from 1972 to 1978.

Biblarz received an MLS and a bachelor's degree from the University of California, Los Angeles, and a master's in French literature from the University of California, Davis. She is active in RTSD and the Arizona State Library Association, and is a member of the University Microfilms International Customer Advisory Council. Her writings have appeared in College & Research Libraries, Shaping Library Collections for the 1980s, and Library Leadership: Visualizing the Future.

DAVID H. BRUNELL has been named executive director of the Bibliographical Center for Research, Denver. He succeeds JoAn Segal, ACRL's new executive director, effective October 1.

As assistant network coordinator of LC's Federal Library and Information Network (FEDLINK), Brunell has served as the administrative and technical officer for their training and automated services program, and was promoted to that position following three years as network librarian at FEDLINK. He was previously employed by BCR in 1977-1979 as systems specialist, providing training and technical assistance on both the OCLC and RLIN systems. His other professional assistance includes work as Ibero-American cataloger at the University of New Mexico, and as research assistant for the Early Modern English Dictionary at the University of Michigan.

Brunell received his MLS degree from the University of Michigan and holds a master's degree in European history and a bachelor's degree in history from the University of New Mexico.

The current chair of the LITA Legislation and Regulation Committee, Brunell is also Federal Librarian's Round Table representative to the RTSD Cataloging, Description and Access Committee.

He has served on the steering committee of the OCLC Inter-Network Quality Control Council for two years and on the OCLC ILL Subsystem Advisory Committee for three years. He currently represents FEDLINK on the OCLC Serials Control Subsystem Advisory Committee.

WILLIAM DEJOHN has been appointed director of the Minnesota Interlibrary Telecommunications Exchange (MINITEX), effective June 13. He comes from the University of Washington, where he was head of its resource sharing program. Previously DeJohn was director of the Pacific Northwest Bibliographic Center. MINITEX, located at the University of Minnesota Twin Cities Libraries, has a mission to facilitate resource sharing among libraries in Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota.

William DeJohn

Before assuming his duties as director of PNBC in 1977, DeJohn was senior consultant in library cooperation for the Illinois State Library (1974-1977) and coordinator of statewide loan services at the Missouri State Library (1968-1974). Previously DeJohn served as community affairs librarian at the Missouri State Library and as reference librarian at the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh. A graduate of the University of Missouri, DeJohn holds an MLS from the University of Pittsburgh Graduate School of Library and Information Science.

A very active member of ALA, DeJohn has served two terms on ALA Council and was the first coordinator of ALA's Social Responsibilities Round Table. He has chaired the ALA Committee on Program Evaluation and Support (COPES) and its Division Interest Special Committee. He is currently a member of the ALA Planning Committee, the ALA Nominating Committee, the ALA Task Force on Excellence in Education, and the LITA Telecommunications Committee. He has served as president of the Association of State Library Agencies, and as consultant to the Center for Research Libraries on issues related to interlibrary cooperation and resource sharing.
