• The UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS Libraries' Kansas Collection, Lawrence, has been awarded a National Historical Publications and Records Commission grant of $21,000, pending funds available for 1982, to process and preserve the J. B. Watkins papers. Watkins was a 19th century business entrepreneur in Lawrence who operated a land mortgage company. The Kansas Collection has also received $8,813 from the Kansas Committee for the Humanities to prepare a traveling exhibit on women school teachers in Kansas.

• The UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, Saint Paul, has been awarded a national resources center grant of $105,000 by the Office of Education to support and develop its West European Area Studies curriculum. In 1981-82 the funds will be used primarily to conduct a survey of the libraries' statistical collections. During the second year a national symposium for West European specialists will be held in Minneapolis in May, 1983.

• The NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY, in conjunction with the American Trust for the British Library, has begun a project to microfilm nearly 6,000 books destroyed in the London Blitz of World War II. After the project is completed in five years, most of the lost American titles that were lost will be once again available to the British Library. Photocopies of catalog entries for books missing from the library's shelves for decades will enable the New York Public Library staff to determine what can be replaced by microfilming from its own holdings.

• The UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SANTA BARBARA and the UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY have become the 24th and 25th general members of the rapidly expanding Research Libraries Group headquartered in Stanford, California. RLG's general programs cover preservation, collection development and management, resource sharing, and automated technical processing via an integrated acquisitions/cataloging system (RLIN).
