Evaluation of Libraries: A Call for Papers

The California Association of Academic and Research Librarians (CARL), and ACRL chapter, invites librarians and information professionals to submit papers concerning the evaluation of library services and programs, including the management of libraries. The deadline for submitting entries is September 1, 1981.

CARL officers will be reviewing the papers and selecting the outstanding research reports. The research investigators will be expected to present papers selected at one of the CARL programs at the annual California Library Association conference at San Francisco in December, 1981. A small honorarium will be awarded to those selected.

Papers may involve the study and analysis of any aspect of the evaluation of libraries. Only one research paper per entrant will be considered. Papers by joint investigators are eligible. Papers will be judged by: definition of the research problem; application of research methods; clarity in reporting the research; and relevance and significance of the research to the study of library evaluation.

Please submit three copies of your research paper, typed double-spaced, to: Jo Bell Whitlatch, President, CARL, San Jose State University Library, San Jose, CA 95192.

nel in Education (Prentice-Hall, 1976), more than a dozen funded research projects, and numerous professional articles in library literature.

Chisholm has been an ALA councilor at large since 1975 and vice president of the National Association for Public Broadcasting since 1980. She holds three degrees from the University of Washington, a bachelor's in education (1957), a master's in librarianship (1958), and a doctorate in administration of higher education (1966).

As vice president at the University of Washington, she directed university relations activities of eight divisions, including Development, public television KCTS/9, Graduate Information and Records, Visitors Information Center, Community Affairs, Publications, and News Services.

BETTY RUTH KONDAYAN, head of reference and public services at Washington and Lee University Library, Lexington, Virginia, has been appointed head librarian at Goucher College, Towson, Maryland, effective March 16.

Kondayan joined the Washington and Lee faculty as an assistant reference and public services librarian in 1970 and became head of the department in 1976. She was responsible for developing programs in special collections (in particular the organization of an extensive manuscript collection) and library instruction.

Kondayan received bachelors and masters degrees in English at the University of Illinois and taught English at Berea College, Kentucky, and at Robert College in Istanbul, Turkey. After returning to the United States she completed an MLS degree at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Her publications include two recent studies of the history of the Washington and Lee University Library as well as several articles on library instruction. For the past several years she has been a member of the Board of Publishers of the literary magazine Shenandoah.

Kondayan has been active in the Virginia Library Association where in 1980 she was chairperson of the Library Instruction Forum, co-editor of the forum's newsletter, and a reporter for the Virginia Librarian.

ELIZABETH W. STONE has been appointed dean of the newly established Graduate School of Library and Information Science at the Catholic University

THE DECLASSIFIED DOCUMENTS REFERENCE SYSTEM, 1975-1981

THE ANNUAL COLLECTIONS, 1975-1981

The Annual Collections are complete through 1980 and comprise approximately 11,000 Declassified Documents, contained on 665 microfiche, abstracted on a total of 1,536 pages of quarterly abstracts, and fully indexed in annual subject volumes. The documents, released primarily by the CIA, NSC, State and Defense Departments, and the White House, provide major coverage of the following areas:

- the Vietnam and Korean Wars, US-Iranian relations (1940's through 1960's), the 1965 coup in Indonesia, and China's cultural revolution;
- defense and national security planning, including estimates of Soviet capabilities and intentions through the 1960's;
- the Bay of Pigs and Cuban missile crisis, the overthrow of Brazil's Joao Goulart, and the Dominican civil war;
- the mid-1960's gold crisis and US balance of payments programs;
- French withdrawal from NATO, the economic situation in the UK, and US policy towards Berlin and Germany;
- the Kennedy assassination investigation;
- Zaire after independence, the Suez Canal crisis, South African apartheid, and the war in Algeria;
- chemical warfare and CIA and Army drug research programs.

THE RETROSPECTIVE COLLECTION

- The full texts of 8,032 Declassified Documents are contained on 1,008 microfiche.
- Original abstracts of the documents appear in two hardcover Abstract volumes, arranged chronologically under names of issuing agencies.
- A single-alphabet Cumulative Subject Index to both the Retrospective and the 1975 Annual Collections is contained in one hardcover volume.

Included for the first time in the Retrospective Collection are special groups of documents on Alger Hiss, the Rosenbergs, and Lee Harvey Oswald (including the diary he kept while in the U.S.S.R.). Also included are declassified documents from the papers of several presidential aides and advisors such as Chester Bowles, Clark Clifford, C.D. Jackson, General Lucius Clay and others. The Retrospective Collection also contains a number of technical and scientific documents.

It is important to note that none of the abstracts or microfiche copies of the documents contained in the Annual Collections are included in the Retrospective Collection. However, all entries from the 1975 Cumulative Subject Index have been merged into a combined Cumulative Subject Index in the Retrospective set in order to provide a single source of subject access for both sets of documents.

ASSOCIATION'S 1978 "PRODUCT OF THE YEAR" AWARD

HERE ARE EXCERPTS FROM REVIEWS OF THE DECLASSIFIED DOCUMENTS REFERENCE SYSTEM

- JOURNAL OF CONTEMPORARY ASIA, v. 8, no. 4 (1978). Reviewed by G. Kolko, Department of History, York University, Toronto, Canada, "Superior to the State Department's Foreign Relations series, the System is best compared to the Pentagon Papers, the four most important and hitherto unavailable volumes of which are found reproduced here for the first time. But since no equivalent of the Pentagon Papers for Indonesia, Thailand, Brazil, Malaysia, Korea, Cuba, or India has been issued, in fact it is a major new source for these nations as well as China and Japan. Asian questions and nations are probably the most extensively covered, but anyone working seriously on Latin America, Africa, or European studies will also be required to consult the System's documents."

- RQ, Reference and Adult Services Division, ALA, v. 15, no. 4, Summer 1976, pp. 353-355. Michael O. Shannon of the Herbert Lehman College, Bronx, New York wrote a comprehensive review of the DDRS in which he stated, "The entire system is characterized by remarkable simplicity of arrangement and ease of searching, and one hopes that it may grow in size and extent." . . . "This is a major research tool to basically archival-type material and should be worth the price for any major research institution that wishes to provide first rate coverage in the fields of recent government, foreign affairs, and politics."

- CHOICE, Association of College and Research Libraries, ALA, v. 13, no. 8 (October 1976) unsigned, p. 956. "The catalog and separately available microfiche of the documents themselves form a complete system of information not available elsewhere, neither indexed in the Monthly Catalog nor published by the G.P.O. The catalog, indexed by a former chief of C.I.A. indexing operations, is a unique source of information about formerly secret activities, and of great value to the researcher and the large academic or public library."

- BOOKLIST, ALA, v. 72, no. 12 (February 15, 1976) "Reference and Subscription Books Reviews" (unsigned) pp. 875-6. "For large academic and public libraries whose patrons do extensive research in subjects in which the government may have a controlling interest, the Declassified Documents Quarterly Catalog and its Index will provide access to materials heretofore unavailable and even unknown, although their existence may have been assumed or suspected. In the expectation that future issues will appear and that coverage will expand, the Declassified Documents Quarterly Catalog with its Cumulative Subject Index is recommended for these large libraries or any library whose patrons require access to this type of information."

- GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS REVIEW, v. 3, no. 2 (1976). The following was extracted from a review by Professor Robin Higham, Department of History, Kansas State University. Professor Higham is also author of Official Histories (1970) and an Editor of Military Affairs and Aerospace Historian. "The great advantage of what Carrollton Press is doing is that it provides the researcher and the librarian with one compact set of Declassified Documents complete with finding aids. The sooner the system is brought to the attention of scholars the better."

- SERIALS REVIEW, July/September, 1975, p. 51. Quoted below are excerpts from a review by Bernard A. Block, Documents Librarian at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. "The Carrollton Press has made a strong beginning toward developing a good collection of declassified documents, well cataloged, abstracted, and indexed. The importance of such material for historians, political scientists, and other researchers cannot be overestimated. The Declassified Documents microfiche collection and related catalogs and indexes are highly recommended for academic and public research libraries."

MAP CONFERENCE

The Cartographic Users Advisory Council, representing four professional map library groups, held a series of meetings with the U.S. Geological Survey and the Defense Mapping Agency during the ALA Midwinter meeting. USGS and DMA are the two largest suppliers of maps to college and university libraries through their depository programs.

The main issues under discussion involved broader availability of material and improvements in the distribution system. As a result of Council recommendations there is a distinct possibility that the distribution functions of the two depository systems will be merged in the near future. The Geological Survey is in the process of re-defining its depository system to improve communication with depository libraries. More material will arrive rolled instead of folded, libraries will be surveyed when new products are available, and geographic selectivity may be a possibility in the geologic map series.

The Cartographic Users Advisory Council invites libraries concerned with federal mapping or earth science agencies to address inquiries or comments to: Charles A. Seavey, Chairman, CUAC, GPMD, General Library, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM 87131. ■■

From 1947 to 1949 he worked in the library of the University of Alabama. He was in Guatemala City, Rio de Janeiro, and San José, Costa Rica, as librarian with the U.S. Information Service from 1950 to 1954. He then worked in the library of Louisiana State University and was associate library director at Texas A&M University before coming to Washington in 1967.

Woodward was a consultant to the Ford Foundation for the National Engineering University Libraries in Lima, Peru, in 1966. He had also been active in the Special Libraries Association and the Columbia Historical Society. ■■

● Available Pay Survey Reports: An Annotated Bibliography, edited by Stephen Langer (3 volumes, 1980), is an exhaustive listing of reports on professional and non-professional salaries in every conceivable employment situation. Indexes to survey sources, geographic areas, types of employers, and job titles make the set very useful in locating source material. Volume 1 ($95) deals with U.S. pay surveys; Volume 2 ($40) with U.S. Federal government surveys; and Volume 3 ($45) with non-U.S. surveys. The set is available for $150 from Abbott, Langer & Associates, P.O. Box 275, Park Forest, IL 60466; (312) 756-3990.

● Basic Preservation Procedures, SPEC Kit #70 (116 pages, January 1981), provides many examples of programs and procedures for the care and protection of library materials that can be implemented by libraries without specially-trained staff. This is the third ARL SPEC Kit to result from the March 1980 SPEC survey on preservation. The kit is available to ARL members and SPEC subscribers for $7.50 and to others for $15 (plus $2 handling charge), prepayment required, from SPEC, OMS/ARL, 1527 New Hampshire Ave., N.W., Washington, DC 20036.
