

- Feb. 13, 1977, Sec. 4, p.11; Northwestern University Library, Special Collections Department, "The Women's Collection Newsletter," no.3, June 1975.
8. Noel Peattie, "Women's Collection Development," SIPAPU 6:3-5 (July 1975); Helen Josephine, "The Unserved Majority," Library Journal 99:188-89 (Jan. 15, 1974); Susan Trewbridge, "Book Publishing: How To," The Feminist Press Newsnotes 6:8 (Spring 1977).
 9. Women Are Women is edited by the women's studies librarian and published by the Office of Women's Studies and OSU Libraries. Subscriptions ($4 a year) are available from the OSU Libraries Publications Committee, Main Library, 1858 Neil Avenue Mall, Columbus, OH 43210.
 10. Ohio State University, Ad Hoc Committee on Women Studies, "A Proposal for a Center for Women's Studies," Columbus, Ohio, 1974.
 11. Not all reviewers are conscious of the feminist perspective, see Helen Mogen, "Letters," Library Journal 101:2356 (Nov. 15, 1976).
 12. Sanford Berman, Prejudices and Antipathies: A Tract on the LC Subject Heads Concerning People (Metuchen, N.J.:Scarecrow, 1971); Joan Marshall, On Equal Terms: A Non-Sexist Thesaurus for Indexing and Cataloging (New York: Neal-Schuman Associates, 1977). ■■

ACRL 1978 National Conference "New Horizons For Academic Libraries"

The Boston Public Library, just two short blocks from the Sheraton Hotel, will be the scene of a reception honoring the fortieth anniversary of ACRL and officially opening the ACRL National Conference in Boston on November 8-11, 1978. This library combines the pure elegance of an older building, erected in 1895 and now a National Historic Site and one of the fifty most important buildings in the history of American architecture, with that of a modern $22.6-million new Central Library opened in 1972.

The reception is only one of several interludes that will add to this important conference that will focus on the future prospects for academic and research librarianship in the U.S. There will be both invited and contributed papers, and the overwhelming response to the contributed paper sessions will assure that all major topics will be covered. Ample time will be provided for visiting exhibits as well as libraries and historical sites. Please reserve the dates November 8-11, 1978, now!

Registration information will be mailed later; for further information please contact Julie A. Carroll Virgo, executive secretary of ACRL, or George Parks, conference chair, at the University of Rhode Island. ■■

Boston Public Library, site of 1978 ACRL National Conference.