

Sandra Rios Balderrama, former director of ALA's Office for Diversity and former president of REFORMA, has been selected as REFORMA's

Sandra Rios Balderrama

2003 Arnulfo D. Trejo Librarian of the Year. Balderrama's professional career in librarianship has been closely associated with issues of diversity and the recruitment and retention of librarians of color. As a junior librarian at Berkeley Public Library, she was instrumental in the creation of the Multiethnic Committee. She then became the coordinator of Recruitment, Staff Development and Retention for the Oakland Public Library (1995-97). As the first librarian to hold the position of director for ALA's Office for Diversity (1998-2002), Balderrama was aggressively involved in determining the path and successful future of the ALA Spectrum Scholars Program. When Balderrama left this position, the ALA Council passed a resolution on June 19, 2002, honoring her work.

Appointments

Carolyn Argentati has been appointed associate vice provost and the Donald E. Moreland deputy director of libraries at North Carolina State University. She will focus on leadership and coordination of the internal work of the libraries and will stand in for and serve as a proxy for the vice provost and director at campus, library, and development events.

Nancy Busch has been named associate dean for the University Libraries at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. Her academic teaching experience includes an appointment as visiting faculty for the School of Library and Information Management at Emporia State University (1990-98 and 2000). She also served as adjunct faculty for the Teacher's College at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln (1995-97) and the School of Information and Library Studies at the University of Michigan (1986-88). Busch previously served as deputy director of the Nebraska Library Commission. Busch's articles have appeared in Library Administration & Management, Wilson Library Bulletin, and the Nebraska Library Association Quarterly. She has also authored many reports for the Nebraska Library Commission.

Lisabeth Chabot has been named college librarian at Ithaca College. She was previously college librarian at Mary Baldwin College in Virginia. While in Virginia, Chabot served a term as president of the Virginia Library Association; she is the immediate past president of the Virginia Independent College and University Library Association; and she served on the Virginia ISTA Advisory Council and the State Council for Higher Education in Virginia Library Advisory Council. As an ACRL member Chabot has been active with the College Library Section (CLS), most recently serving on the CLS executive committee and the CLS standards committee.

Linda Matthews has been named vice provost and director of libraries at Emory University. Matthews has been director of the Special Collections and Archives Division in the Robert W. Woodruff Library at Emory since 1982. She joined Emory as a reference archivist in 1972.

Linda Matthews

Catherine Murray-Rust has been named dean of libraries at Colorado State University-Ft. Collins. She was previously the associate univer-

Ed. note: To ensure that your personnel news is considered for publication, write to Ann-Christe Galloway, production editor, C&RL News, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611-2795; e-mail: agalloway@ala.org; fax: (312) 280-2520.

Catherine Murray-Rust records, special collections, and the Guin Library. Prior to her tenure at Oregon State, she served for 21 years in reference services and library administration at Cornell University. She is active in ACRL, LAMA, and LITA.

Verne W. Newton has been named director of the James A. Cannavino Library at Marist College. Newton was previously director of the nearby Franklin D. Roosevelt Presidential Library in Hyde Park, New York. He has published two books on Roosevelt-era history and wrote and produced the PBS feature documentary Harry Hopkins: At FDR's Side.

Janice Simmons-Welburn has been named associate dean of the University of Arizona Libraries.

Ann St. Clair has been appointed library director of Montana Tech Library at the University of Montana.

Gloriana St. Clair, Carnegie Mellon University librarian since April 1998, has been named dean of university libraries at Carnegie Mellon

Gloriana St. Clair

University. Carnegie Mellon University President Jared Cohon said that the new title "more aptly reflects the importance of the libraries in the university's academic life." St. Clair edited College & Research Libraries from 1990 to 1996. She then became the managing editor of Journal of Academic Librarianship. When Elsevier bought that journal, St. Clair, Sue Martin, Charles Lowry and many board members founded a new journal, portal: Libraries and the Academy, which is published electronically in "Muse." She has led or partici-ated in various leadership activities in the field of library science and was chair of ALA's Library Research Roundtable and the ACRL Excellence in Academic Libraries Award Committee. She is a member of the Digital Library Federation, and past chair of the Pennsylvania Academic Library Consortium Initiative, among many other organizations and committees.

J. Daniel Vann III, retired dean of library services at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania, has been appointed interim director of the William Smith Morton Library and adjunct professor of bibliography at Union Theological Seminary and Presbyterian School of Christian Education. He was previously a bibliographer at the Newberry Library and librarian/director at Charleston Southern University, Keuka College, Staten Island Community College of CUNY, the Lockwood

J. Daniel Vann III

Library at SUNY-Buffalo, and the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. Vann has been chair of ACRL's Community and Junior College Libraries Section and its membership and constitution and bylaws committees as well as a member of ACRL's Board of Directors; CHOICE editorial board, the Academic/Research Librarian of the Year Committee, and the Intellectual Freedom Committee. He was a Council on Library Resources intern and has served on ALA and LAMA panels.

William D. Walker has been named director of libraries at the University of Miami (UM). Walker, who oversaw the New York Public Library, previously served as director of the Medical Library Center of New York and as the head of information services at the University of Illinois Medical Center's Library of the Health Sciences. At UM, Walker will oversee a library system anchored by the newly refurbished $17.5 million Otto G. Richter Library, which houses 1.8 million of the university's volumes.

William D. Walker

Margaret M. Cohen is now head librarian of the Educational Resource Center at Boston College.

Elizabeth Cooper has been appointed anthropology librarian for the General Libraries of Emory University.

Holly Eggleston has joined the Maureen and Mike Mansfield Library at the University of Montana-Missoula as a reference librarian.

Stephen Enniss has been appointed director of special collections and archives for the General Libraries of Emory University.

Tiffeni J. Fontno has been appointed business and management librarian at Case Western Reserve University.

Eric Glass has been appointed serials librarian at Columbia University's Arthur Diamond Law Library.

Stephen Greenberg has been named coordinator of public services for the History of Medicine Division at the National Library of Medicine.

Judith Haydel has joined the reference department of the Dupré Library at the University of Louisiana-Lafayette.

Emily Holmes is now assistant director for preservation reformatting and digitization in the preservation division of the Columbia University Libraries.

Dena Hutto has been promoted to director of reference and instruction in the Reed College Library.

Juliet Kerico has been appointed literature and humanities librarian at Indiana State University.

Jean Laponce is now Western European and Philosophy librarian in the Humanities and History Division at Columbia University Libraries.

Colleen Major has joined the Maureen and Mike Mansfield Library as a reference librarian at the University of Montana-Missoula.

Erin McCaffrey has been appointed distance learning librarian at Regis University in Denver.

Patrick McCarthy has been appointed coordinator of instruction/reference services at Colorado State University Libraries.

Emily J. McElroy is the new collection development and acquisitions librarian at the University of Oregon-Eugene Libraries.

Matthew Parsons has been appointed map librarian in the Map Collection and Cartographic Information Services at the University of Washington Libraries.

Anne Pemberton is now public services librarian at the University of North Carolina-Wilmington.

Tom Riedel is now distance services librarian at Regis University in Denver.

Krista Schmidt is the new reference/science librarian at Western Carolina University's Hunter Library.

Dongfang Shao has been appointed head of the library at Stanford University's East Asia Library.

Amanda Swygart-Hobaugh has been appointed consulting librarian for the social sciences at Cornell College.

Leigh Thompson is now reference/instructional services librarian at the Roberts-LaForge Library at Delta State University.

Min Tian has been appointed Chinese studies librarian at the University of Iowa Libraries.

Maurice York has joined the General Libraries of Emory University as team leader for circulation and reserves.

Retirements

Rosemary E. Buhr, director of the Learning Resources Center at the Logan College of Chiropractic in Chesterfield, Missouri, has retired after 20 years of service. Previously she was librarian at Barnes Hospital School of Nursing for 11 years.

Joan Gotwals, vice provost and director of Emory University Libraries, has retired after 15 years of service. She has lead the library to national recognition for its major research collections, inviting physical facilities, and innovations in digital services. Prior to joining Emory, Gotwals spent 26 years in the library system of the University of Pennsylvania, where she became deputy director of libraries in 1981.

Joan Gotwals

Nancy Koller, bibliographer of social sciences and humanities and distinguished librarian at the University of California-Riverside (UCR), has retired. She was an active member in many library associations, including ALA, California Librarians Association, and California Association of Academicalibraries. She has published articles in Books at UCR and taught at Riverside Community College, Chapman College, and UCR in the areas of library organizations and functions, library research methodology and strategies, and bibliographic instruction.

Nancy Koller

Chang C. Lee has retired after 20 years of service at the University of Central Florida (UCF) Library. He began his library career in 1969 and has worked at various institutions, including Florida A&M University and the Behrend College, Pennsylvania State University-Erie. After teaching library science and education at the National Chengchi University of Taiwan for a year, Lee came to UCF as the head of circulation in 1983 and became the special collections librarian in 1986. Lee has also been a professor of Chinese language and civilization at UCF since 1985. He has published 55 papers relating to education, Chinese language and culture, library science and archives; made 28 presentations and consultations; and served as a consultant for several college libraries in Taiwan. He has been one of the executive editors of the Journal of Educational Media and Library Sciences since 1985. Lee has been a member of the Florida Library Association and ALA and served as the president of the Chinese American Library Association (an affiliate organization of ALA) from 1988 to 1989.

Chang C. Lee

Bob Sickles, reference/collections librarian in the area of agriculture/life sciences at Iowa State University, has retired after 35 years of service.

Deaths

Bernard McTigue, 57, head of special collections at the North Carolina State University (NCSU) Libraries, has died. Before joining the NCSU Libraries in 1999, McTigue served as director of the Division of Special Collections and University Archives at the University of Oregon and as chair of the Department of Special Collections at the University of Florida's Smathers Libraries. From 1974 to 1990 he worked at the New York Public Library, first as curator of the Arents

Bernard McTigue

Collections, then as curator of the collection and keeper of rare books. McTigue also worked in various editorial capacities for a number of journals, including the Bulletin of Bibliography, American Book Collector, Bulletin du Bibliophile, and Biblio, and authored several books. He was active professionally, holding membership in several organizations, including ACRL's Rare Books and Manuscripts Section.

Elizabeth Ellen Winkelmann Morrissett, 82, has died. Morrissett worked as the DuPont organic chemistry department librarian (1944-45), as science and technical librarian at Antioch College (1945-48), as a librarian at the University of California-Berkeley (1948-50), as librarian at the University of Colorado (1969-76), as librarian at Auraria Library in Denver (1976-80), as head librarian at Montana College of Mineral Science and Technology in Butte (1980-86), as library director at Alaska Pacific University-Anchorage (1986-90), and as a librarian at Alaska State Library in Juneau from (1990-91). She was a member of ALA, Colorado Library Association, Mountain Plains Library Association, and the International Federation of Library Associations. ■

Advertiser index

ACM	579
ACRL	629
Annual Reviews	621
Archival Products	615
ARL	610-611, 623
Chemical Abstracts Services	Cover 2
CHOICE	582
EBSCO	Cover 3
Gale Group	Cover 4
Learning Times	598
Oxford University Press	589
Paratext	630