

PROFILE

ABBY DAHL-HANSEN has been named university librarian at the University of California, Riverside. She becomes the third woman in the

Abby Dahl-Hansen

University of California system to receive such an appointment. Assistant university librarian at UCR since 1970, Ms. Dahl-Hansen succeeds Dr. Donald Wilson who resigned earlier this year to accept an appointment as university librarian for Humboldt State University.

Born in 1941 in Washington, D.C., Ms. Dahl-Hansen received her library degree in 1964 from the University of North Carolina. Her first professional position was at the University of South Carolina as assistant undergraduate librarian and reference librarian; she later headed the Circulation Department. From 1966 to 1970, she was in charge of the Acquisitions Department at the University of Colorado library in Boulder.

Ms. Dahl-Hansen was asked by the News to discuss her professional outlook. Her comments follow: "I like to emphasize my long-term commitment to regional cooperative ventures such as the Colorado Academic Libraries Book Processing Center (CALBPC) and the Inland Empire Academic Libraries Cooperative (IEALC) at Riverside. IEALC currently provides borrowing privileges for six 4-year academic institutions within a thirty mile radius. We hope to expand the cooperative to include the several community colleges within the area as well as several other 4-year schools further away. The system is built on a common ID card. We also hope to include other ideas such as a clearing-house for expensive purchases. While none of this is startling or new, it takes a large measure of commitment, hard work, and faith to overcome initial obstacles and the spirit of isolationism which has existed for so long.

"Another growing interest is personnel administration. I am a member of the UC Staff Personnel Board, a five-member group which advises President Hitch on all new policy proposals for staff personnel, including relations with employee organizations.

Two favorite topics of mine for academic libraries are (1) development of an outreach program of reference service; and (2) library instruction programs designed for the juniors, seniors, and beginning graduate students which emphasize the specialized bibliography of particular subject disciplines.

"My publications include several RTSD articles in past years and a cookbook. I concentrate my prose efforts now on exploring university issues."
