

European Network for Social and Emotional Competence in Children

29 June 2011 to 3 July 2011

Manchester, United Kingdom

Social and emotional education across the world: celebrating diversity in theory, research and practice

The University of Manchester is delighted to host the 3rd biennial conference of the European Network for Social and Emotional Competence in Children (ENSEC). ENSEC is a collaborative network for European researchers and practitioners working in the area of social and emotional competence in children and young people. The theme of the 2011 conference is 'Social and emotional education across the world: celebrating diversity in theory, research and practice'. There are three conference sub-themes:

- (1) International perspectives - exploring the diversity of approaches to social and emotional education from countries around the world.
- (2) Diversity and innovation in thinking - research that supports new ideas or theories relating to social and emotional education.
- (3) Practical application - presentations that inform policy and practice.

We are keen to attract researchers and practitioners from around the world to ENSEC 2011. It will be an excellent opportunity for discussion, debate, networking and sharing ideas. As a venue, the University of Manchester offers state of the art facilities and is located in one of the most diverse and vibrant cities in Europe.

This website contains all of the relevant information about the conference. At the top of the page you will find links to the call for papers, registration, accommodation, conference themes and keynotes, the social programme and information about the venue. There will be regular updates over the coming months so please bookmark this page and come back soon!
