

Words from the Senior Editor

Welcome to the first issue of IJHP! Today's economy, politics and social relations require that we consider interactions among all possible dimensions. The IJHP is a journal dedicated to the study, development and dissemination of a way of making decisions that departs from traditional approaches based on normative principles that cannot consider interactions among the factors that shape decisions.

Luis Vargas
Senior Editor